

Keith Garton <keithgarton@gmail.com>

Your review has been approved and published

1 message

info@childrenslit.com <info@childrenslit.com>

Mon, Aug 11, 2025 at 9:59 PM

To: info@redchairpress.com

Hello Red Chair Press,

Thank you for submitting your book for review. One of our talented reviewers has read your title and a review has been published.

Title Name: Digger: Dig Or Die!Author Name: Cholette, Deborah

Review: This thrilling and timely dystopian novel plunges two siblings into a race for survival after a climate disaster. Narrated by Nick and Lily, the story showcases their ingenuity and resourcefulness as they work to help their community. Nick's digging skills become crucial as he organizes friends to build a network of tunnels connecting homes and basements. Meanwhile, Lily, a strategic planner, creates a communication system using walkie-talkies and baby monitors to share vital information. The author skillfully crafts a fast-paced story that balances urgency with character depth. The dual narrative shifts between the siblings, highlighting their contrasting personalities and unique coping strategies. The book is not just an adventure but also a profound reflection on environmental responsibility, family bonds, and the strength of a community working together. The concise writing, accompanied by a few illustrations, makes this an engaging and accessible read for middle-grade readers. Young readers will find this a breathtaking, page-turning read that shows kids can lead and make a real difference. The book is a must-read for anyone looking for a story that combines suspense and ingenuity with hope.

Ages: 9 - 12Reviewer Rating: 5

All Rights Reserved. CLCD, LLC