

TREVOR LEE AND THE BIG UH-OH!

BY WILEY BLEVINS

ILLUSTRATED BY MARTA KISSI

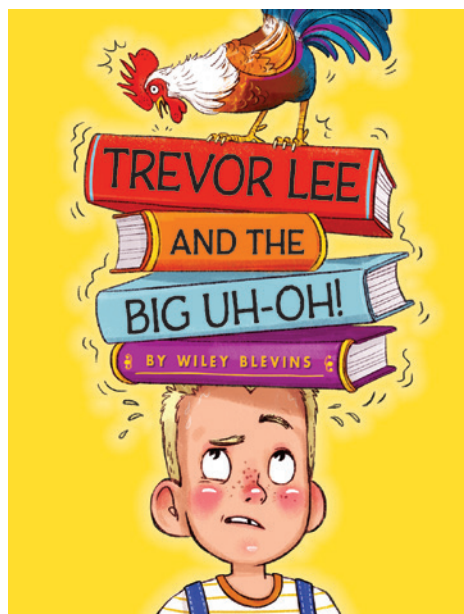

If there's one thing everyone knows, it's that Trevor Lee and school don't mix. Like pickles and peanut butter. When his new teacher announces all the 3rd graders must read in front of everyone at Parents Night, Trevor Lee and his best friend Pinky take action. After several over-the-top attempts at getting out of Parents Night, Trevor Lee enlists the help of his Mamaw. "Some days are just bad. You gotta hold your head high and keep moving," she always says. Can Trevor Lee remember her advice as he stands in front of a crowd on the biggest night of 3rd grade?

“Funny and heartwarming, with a memorable lead whose challenges are easy to relate to... a great choice for families who want something to read together.”

—Foreword Reviews

ABOUT THE AUTHOR: Wiley Blevins and Trevor Lee have much in common. But Wiley has devoted his career as a writer and educator to helping young children make sense of letters and words so they can read books like this one. Wiley got his undergraduate degree from Bowling Green State University and his graduate degree from Harvard University. He has taught young people in Ecuador, Ohio, and Maryland and is a popular speaker in Asia and the U.S. about how children learn to read.

JUVENILE FICTION

ISBN: 978-1-947159-068

Hardcover $14.99 (List)

160 pages 6" x 8" Ages 8–10

Publication Date: September 1, 2019

BISAC: JUV019000, JUV024000,
JUV 035000

Marketing

National Publicity and Review

National Advertising

Regional Author Appearances

Educational Partnerships

Distributed by

Lerner Publisher Services

800-328-4929

PUBLICITY CONTACT:

Keith Garton, Publisher
keith@redchairpress.com
917-715-2857